Lloyd George's Address to Parliament Brings Silesian Situation to Head.

By United Press Leased Wire Paris - France could not remain disinterested if Germany sent troops into Upper Silesia to attack the Poles," Premier Briand declared this afternoon in replying to Premier Lloyd George's speech in commons

"If Germany sends in her troops it will bring very, very grave consequences" he continued. "so grave that I refuse to discuss them "

The premier summoned the news paper correspondents to his offices and Lloyd George. He fiatly denied Lloyd George's assertion that Upper Silesia is of German origin. He declared that France would never accept a settlement giving the mname regions in dispute to Germany.

Briand said the supreme council would be giad to receive any opinion expressed by the United States on the Upper Silesian situation. In reply to question as to whether there was a chance of the United States being asked to mediate, he said:

"The United States forcunately has t voice in the supreme council. Any opinion she may express will be gladlv received '

The premier admitted there was absolute disagreement between the allies. Britain holding one thesis, Italy another. France another- and that they were unable to get together.

CENSUS FIGURES SHOW BIG GAINS

Land Values and Crops Greatly Increased in Volume. Sheep Disappearing.

Farm land values in Outagamie county increased more than 50 per cent in the last ten years, according Friday. to figures of the 1920 census just issued by the United States census bureau. There are 96 more farms than in 1910 with a corresponding increase in the number of men engaged in farming. About 13,000 additional acres of land have been improved.

Contrary to the general impression that Old Dobbin had seen his day and was disappearing, the number of horses increased in ten years from 11,795 to 12,576. The number of cattle remained average with 55,967 in 1910 and 56,776 in 1920. Swine culture dwindled from 46,576 to 33,716

Sheep raising either is unprofitable or impracticable in this part of Wis-There was a drop from 9,774 to 3,066 head in Outogamie county and a similar situation obtains in all parative figures for these counties as to the number of sheep in 1920 and dents of any community. 1910 are: Shawano, 17,807 to 6,552; Brown, 3,728 to 1,401; Winnebago 13.-720 to 5,988; Waupaca, 10,457 to 3,411; Calumet, 4.819 to 1,596. From 25 to 33 per cent less hogs were raised in these counties, the figures show, except in Brown county, where there was an increase from 15,060 head to

There was a material increase in the acreage and volume of the oat, barley, and corn crops in the county, but hay production diminished from 90,313 tons sown on 61.287 acres to 77.119 tons raised on 52.034 acres. Oats increased from 1,396,373 bushels to 1,878.901 bushels; corn from 1,033,-429 bushels to 1,056,479 bushels: barley from 228,596 to 489,474 bushels, or nearly 100 per cent increase.

Total acreage of Outagamie county farms in 1910 was 336,007. Now it is 347,824, an increase of 3.5 per cent. The value of these lands has jumped from $25,089,304 to $39,940.147. The increase amounted to $14,850.843, or 59.2 per cent in ten years. The number of farms in operation jumped from 3,650 to 3,746, an increase of

One encouraging fact gained from the census figures is that a very low percentage of the farmers are tenants. There are only 304 of these, seven more than in 1910. Farms ophas 26.5 per cent more tenant farmers than in 1910, Brown has 8 per cent more; Calumet 24.4 more, and Winnebago county 14 per cent less. There are 3,626 white farmers and 120 colored in this county, meaning perhaps Indians in the latter case.

Land value increases in all neighhoring counties except two exceeded those of Outagamie county, where the rise was 59.2 per cent. Shawano-co. jumped values 74.7 per cent; Brown 43 per cent: Winnehago, 45.6 per cent Waupaca, 60.2 per cent; Calumet, 67.6 per cent.

By far the largest crop raised in any county outside of Waupaca is that of oats. Waupaca county stands in a field by itself, producing 2,392,-213 bushels of potatoes, an increase of

> "I know of 50 traveling men who would move their families to Appleton if they could find houses," said G. T. Thomas, secretary of the United Commercial Travelers Council No. 155, in speaking of the housing situation here

> "They want to come here not only to educate their children," he said, "but also because of its railroad, interurban and motor bus facilities which make it one of the best cities in the state to get in an out of." Appleton has had the reputation for several years of being the home of more traveling men than any other city of its size in the state. "At present about 250 reside here," said Mr. Thomas, "and nearly all of them have families.' The district covered by the local council of the United Commercial Travelers includes Neenah and Menasha, Kaukauna and New London. The Neenah-Menasha membership is 150; Kaukauna 12, and New London 2. 300,000 bushels. Outagamie excelled in corn production, with 1,056,479 bushels as against 500,719 in Shawano county; 844,175 in Winnebago, and 602.144 in Waupaca county. Hay crops in all other counties diminished materially in ten years.

Land values for the entire state of Wisconsin jumped almost 100 per cent in ten years, the census figures show. The number of farms increased from 177,127 to 189,295 and the value of all farm property from $1,413,118,785 to $2.677,282,997. A total of 94,258 farms are mortgaged and 27,258 are operated by tenants. The total acreage increased from 21,060,066 to 22,148,223. About half a million acres have been improved. The average amount of debt per farm increased from $2,116 to $3,072.

There has been a decrease in the number of sheep in the state at large as well as in this locality. There were 628,539 in 1910 and in 1920, $479. 991. The number of horses increased from 608,657 to 683,364. One of the largest increases was that of cattle, erated by owners or managers in 1910 indicating dairying progress, with 2, were 3,353; in 1920, 3,442. Shawano 230,585 head ten years ago and 3,050,-829 head now. The number of chickens increased more than 2,000,000.

Milk production was 667,497,765 gallons in 1910 and 858,258,521 gallons in 1920; eggs, 50,623,813 and 53,222,114 dozen respectively. Corn, oats, potatoes and tobacco were the heaviest Wisconsin crops in 1920. Total crop in 1910 to $445,347,868 in 1920.

THE TARIFF AND THE PRODUCER

The senate having passed the emergency tariff bill, the country may speculate upon its prospective benefits. The purpose of this measure theoretically is to increase prices and profits primarily to the farmer and secondarily to other producers by shutting out competing commodities from Europe, or taxing them to their selling disadvantage. Nobody seriously expects this tariff bill to make any difference in the business situation. Nobody seriously believes it will contribute added prosperity to the farmer or relieve him of the load he has carried through deflation.

Even a prohibitive tariff which shut out all foreign goods from our markets would do no good to the Texas spinach grower who is said to be securing five dollars a ton for his product that sells to the consumer in Chicago at the rate of $300 a ton. Neither would it be of benefit to the Maine holder of railroad stock paying no dividend. The phase of the economic situation which is disturbing to the original producer is that the disparity between the price he receives and the price the public pays has been created principally at his expense. It is true of the grain and cattle grower, of the lumber operator, of many other sources of production. They are not suffering from competition of foreign goods. Their troubles are excessive transportation rates and marketing costs which are absorbing the profits that normally would be theirs. The tariff is not going to make any appreciable difference to them.

What the farmer is suffering from. along with other industrial and commercial interests, is principally the ill-balanced and disorganized exchange of production between nations. American prosperity depends to a large degree upon the regularity and adequacy of foreign absorption of our surplus commodities. Because of the inability of the world, chiefly Europe, to buy our products our farms and mines and factories are running on part time or are shut down temporarily. The tariff is not going to solve this problem, if anything it is likely to complicate

The American farmer's prosperity in the immediate future. and perhaps for some time to come. depends upon the assistance America gives to place other nations in a position where they can resume production and distribution of the produets which they sent us in other days in payment of their imports from this country. We have the food, raw materials and machinery which the rest of the world, especially Europe, needs. We also have the foundation for such an extension of credit as will alone make the purchase of the requirements possible. Actual and permanent relief can come only through the creation of new markets and outlets for the surplus products of our farms and factories, and not in artificially increasing the prices of goods entering into domestic consumption. The emergency tariff bill is fallacious because it seeks to give relief by this latter method. In reality it will accomplish little or nothing

We are not going to have a full return to normalcy until Europe is set upon the path of sound financial readjustment and economic restoration. There is potential demand for all that we can produce, but the trouble is, our customers are in bankruptey. Artificial nostrums like the tariff are amateurish in the face of the great world peace problems pressing for statesmanly solution, but they serve the purposes of the politicians and therefore we have to go through with them.

THE OSTRICH METHOD

After bombarding the Denver Post with criticisms of the "offensive matter" appearing in its columns, the Rev. W. H. Wray Boyle was invited by the authorities of that newspaper to edit it for one day according to his own ideas of propriety. The published account shows that the reverend reformer, who promptly accepted the offer, editorially expressed his views of the proprieties of journalism. "killed" the crime news, cut out the divorce cases, and eliminated all reference to boxing in the space devoted to sports. The result greatly pleased him and his friends and the Post lost nothing, the paper successfully competing with rivals that day as usual. What it would have lost in a week or a month of Mr. Boyle's editing is another and an untold story, for obviously there could be no real test in a single day.

A newspaper adopting Mr. Boyle's plan probably would lose money and might even go under, but this is not the important question involved from society's viewpoint. The ostrich method would please evildoers even more than Mr. Boyle and his friends. Lawbreakers would be only too glad for both the courts and the newspapers to adopt it. as the most promising means of making the world a paradise for themselves and an extremely uncomfortable place for good citizens. "The world." pointedly remarks the New York Times "is a place in which many things happen that pain all people who are good or trying to be good. Some of them think that all its naughtiness should be passed over by the press in silence, but they don't think so half as sincerely as do the perpetrators of the naughtiness, for they would be delighted indeed to escape publicityand condemnation and punishment there-

PEACEABLE AMERICA'S WARS

As peace is recognized as a cardinal principle of the great American republic. it is rather startling to read the war department's survey showing that since the beginning of our political existence we have been at war one year out of every six, that during the 144 years between 1776 and 1921 we have formally declared war eight times and were engaged in actual fighting 23 years and 340 days. Incidentally it is interesting to know that four of the eight declarations occurred in the month of April. These eight military adventures, covering nearly 24 years of actual fighting, were the Revolutionary war, the war of 1812, the war with the Barbary pirates in 1815, the Mexican war, the war between the States, the War with Spain, the Philippine insurrection beginning February, 1899, and the war with Germany and Austria beginning April 6, 1917.

But these names, dates and figures do not tell the whole story. They do not include our participation in the suppression of the Boxer rebellion in China or numerous other small adventures of the past. They do not include the unfinished operations of our marines in Haiti and Santo Domingo. More notable still, they do not include our practically continuous warfare with American Indians from the earliest colonial days down to a comparatively recent period. For a people devoted to peace both in principle and in fact, we have had far more of war than our people realize. The prospects of indefinite peace would be most welcome. Are we doing all that we can as a nation to insure it?

CHRONIC SORE THROAT

In most cases of chronic sore throat (granular, follicular or herpetic pharyngitis; atrophic pharyngitis, dry pharyngitis: clergyman's sore throat) the throat trouble is really secondary to an infection or disease within the nasal cavity or one of the nasal accessory sinuses, and little permanent benefit is obtained until the primary trouble is found and in the good old days, when doctors knew a great deal less than their patients thought they (the doctors) knew, it was considered good practice when the doctor badn't the time, the inclination or the equipment to make an actual examination or search with their queer tents and painted for the cause of the sore throat, to dub it "rheumane" and caution the poor gink about good red meat gaudy silks, seem as out of place and all that sort of almanacology. Nowadays the among the neat American farms and "rheumatism" buncombe doesn't go, except with homes as would an orchid growing those poor simpletons who still believe the yarns of among daisies, the faker who got his "cure" from "an old army surgeon" or from a "gentleman returned from India" or some such tale. Acute sore throat is too often the focus of infection whence are derived own or any other unifying influence, the germs which produce joint inflammation (ar and yet they have kept intact their thritis); but the joint inflammation is not the cause of the sore throat.

The symptoms of chronic sore throat are familiar enough to the victims of the trouble.

Factors which contribute an aggravating influence are tobacco smoke, overeating, the excessive dryness of the desert climate of the home or office heated above 68 degrees in winter, the vicious habit of coddling the body or any part of it with excessive clothing. Mouth breathing from any obstruction of the nasal passages is an important aggravating factor. This gargle has proved valuable for clearing the oice for singing or speaking:

Potassium chlorate 2 drams Boiling water 4 ounces owdered alum 1 dram tronger rose water2 ounces and 5 drams Flycerin 1-2 ounce yrup 1-2 ounce Fluidextract of red gum (Eucalyptus rostrata) 3 drams Dissolve the postassium chlorate in the boiling water and set aside to cool. Dissolve the alum in the rose water and add the other ingredients. Mix this with the portion set aside. The result should be clear, ruby liquid of agreeable taste and odor. To gargle, use a tablespoonful with a tablespoonful of water once or twice within the half hour before using the voice. (When red gum is not available TWO drams of fluidextract of kino may be substiuted therefor.

Besides careful correction of the patient's bad hy giene and personal habits—a matter of paramount importance which is too easily overlooked, for most neople think hygiene is a sort of "sanitary" bathnoom equipment—the treatment of chronic sore throat is a strictly medical problem, and the suferer errs seriously when he fails to consult a good physician and throat specialist and faithfully follow he mode of treatment prescribed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS A frequent Coincidence

Does it seem to you as it seems to me that one's health is likely to decrease at the same rate that his wealth increases, after he has passed the point of comfortable living? (J. 下. M.)

ANSWER-That does seem a frequent coinci lence, if nothing more. Too many people confuse comfort with coddling, and coddling is a heavy tax on health. For one example, there's the fellow who never walks any more after he has amassed the price of a flivver, and the woman who piles on the slacker flesh to beat the band after she learns how

The Gypsies are unique among peoples in having roamed all over five continents without a country of their language, their customs and ways of living, and their racial purity. On the nature of that race science has recently shed a good deal of light. The Gypsies are no longer thought to have come from Egypt, as their name would imply, but are known to be derived from northern India. Both their language and their racial type are said to relate them unmistakably to the Hindoos.

The mystery about them is what caused a large section of a race to suddenly adopt a nomadic life, and what enables it to continue this life in all parts of the world for centuries without loss of racial identity. For the Gypsies began to wander in the 10th century, moving from their home probably in a body which broke up into smaller and smaller subdivisions and gradually scattered into all parts of the world. They were probably driven out of India by the hordes of Genghis Khan. There is nothing remarkable about the start of this migration. History is full of similar ones. But usually the migrants have settled again at the first favorable opportunity and have been largely absorbed by the population about moving and have remained unchanged. The Jews of course offer the Jews have attached themselves to various countries, adopting their languages and customs, playing an important part in the making of civil-The Gypsy adopts nothing and remains as completely outside of ivilization as the rabbits and birds. The Gypsies might perhaps be explained by the fact that a part of a race or tribe had to migrate in that far away day, and that all of those in whom the nomadic impulse was tention to that strongest naturally volunteered to go. strange race of Perhaps circumstances made it imnomads who live possible for them to settle anywhere all over the mod- as a whole, and so they kept moving, ern world, and the less strong and adventurous dropping out one by one, until only a band of hardy, born wanderers remained.

The fact that the Gypsy personifies the vagabond and the nomad in all of us doubtless explains the different accounts of him that you get. By most respectable people he is regarded as a cheat, a thief, a kidnaper, and a bad fellow generally. On the other hand, many distinguished persons, of whom George Borrow, the English author, is the most famous, have learned the Gypsy language and lived among the Gypsies, and these without exception testify to the sincerity, kindness and hospitality of the road people, and to their great capacity for friendship.

Why Gypsies Are Not Liked No doubt there is an instinctive an agonism between respectable folk and Gypsies. The respectable settled life is achieved only by repressing and conquering the nomadic impulse the Gypsy represents. The farmer, plodding through his daily routine, perhaps sees in the Gypsy, without being exactly aware of the fact, his own other self, the self that he has had to fight-the self that led him to play hookey from school, and tempted him to go to sea, and even now causes him to leave plowing for fishing once in a while. His attitude toward this self, as incarnate in the Gypsy, is one of mingled envy and antagonism. He despises the Gypsy and still he hangs around the Gypsy tent and has his fortune told and swaps horses and loses money on the Needless to say, some of the Gypsies have earned their bad names. The Gypsies from the south of Europe are usually the dirtiest, the most inclined to pilfer and cheatthough none of them are to be trusted in a horse trade. The Gypsics who come to this country from Ireland and England, on the other hand, are often well-to-do, and their traveling homes are remarkably clean and comfortable. There are all grades of Gypsy them. Only the Gypsies have kept as of other society. Some of the better class Gypsies own homes and farms where they spend a part of the nearest thing to a parallel, but the year, going on the road perhaps only in the summer. These usually send their children to school a part of the time. There is a colony of gypsies here in Washington, who ride about in automobiles and seem always to have plenty of money. One of the men of this group was arrested by the Washington police on the charge that he had no visible means of support, and he proved in police court that, he had invisible means to the extent of $100,000 in a Washington bank.

Some few of these well-to-do and educated Gypsies are said to desert the road life entirely and settle into professions or trades. But even these feel the call of the road at times and wander surreptitiously.

Those who have studied the Gypsies closely are all of the opinion that they should be tolerated and allowed to live their free and casy lives as long as they refrain from actual crime. race is rapidly losing under the influence of civilization-for the primitive spontaneous love and understanding of nature, as distinguished from our highly artificial admiration of sunsets and moonrises, for the joys of change and freedom. It is well even those most rooted in habit and that a Gypsy wagon should rattic past our doors once in a while. Maybe it will only make us feel snug and superior in our neat little painted houses, our neat little lives of habit department, the women and child laof all men most intensely. Think of and work. But maybe it will make a Clypsv as a personification of your us reflect that there are other things own love of change and adventure, in life than dollars and duties and your hatred of routine and monotony, troutines—things that a Gypsy knows.

are on the average at their highest earning ability. That is the time to set aside a part of their income for the declining years.

Too often they hope for some stroke of fortune to make up for money they might have saved only to be disappointed. Or they expect greater earning power which fails to come.

Those who know say that the second half of life is better than the first—if it is not spent in penury. In youth joys are keen but disappointments are also sharp and many. Age may weaken the body but the mind is as keen as before and stronger with acquired knowledge and experience.

Provide for your declining years by putting aside some of your earnings in this strong safe bank.

The Most Beautiful Car in America

World's Championship form is the best guarantee of all 'round efficiency that the sporting world affords. That is the real significance of our great victory with the Paige "Daytona" 6-66 model on January 21st.

When this car won the world's stock chassis record by traveling at the rate of 102.8 miles per hour it proved itself, not merely a fast car, but a superlatively fine engineering achievement.

You can establish this fact for yourself by riding in any Paige

6-66. Then, at a mere snail's pace or with the throttle half open, you will sense the finely balanced construction and immense reserve power that is basic and fundamental. We invite you to test the 6-66 and compare it with any other car-at any price-on the American market. If you once know that exclusive power plant you will know the Paige story

LAMERS SLATED TO FACE BRANDTS IN FIRST BATTLE

Veteran Kimberly Hurler Probably Will Pitch First Game of Season.

Old Man Winter, whose icy return to Appleton has forced its people into overcoats again, may put somewhat of a crimp in Sunday's opening game in the Fox River Valley Baseball league. This kind of weather isn' conductive to record breaking baseball crowds and unless Old Sol makes a determined effort to come back there is more than a probability that it will be a pretty slim crowd which will watch Kimberly and Appleton square off at 2 30 Sunday afternoon in Brandt

Manager Spies is set for the opening game and Manager Sylvester of the Kimberly crew also is ready to begin the long race. Hank Schultz, the most dependable pitcher in the cir cuit, will be on the mound for the Brandis and if his support is up to snuff the Kimberly tribe will have to step out to get an even break Manager Sylvester is not certain whom he will start in the first game Harvey Stock, former Lake Shore league star who has been signed for the season is in New York and will be unable to pitch in the first game Sy! vester however has three other pitchers on his staff and might start any one of them Marty Lamers is said to be in the best of shape for pitching duel and if he fails Sylvester still has Dumont, a Rhinelander young man and Carl Fahlstrom, former Brandt man to fall back on. Runke will do the backstopping for the vil

Owner Brandt and his aides have promised to hive the diamond in tiptop shape for the game. The infield has been rolled and packed and the outfield has been cleared of debris, it was raid. Last Sunday's errors were party due to the poor condition of the playing held which made judging of hard bit balls a real task

The term is praving for warm weather so Schultz' arm will be thrwed out. He does his best work in torrid temperature and if the sun succeeds in driving away the clouds Appicton can count on scoring the first game in the won column

Sport Views And News

Not more than two or three years ago Appleton was regarded as one of the deadest sport towns in Wisconsin. The city was not represented by a worthwhile baseball team, football was in the dumps, track was negiccied, ricing was dead and boxing and wrestling had been abandoned. Things have changed wonderfully in two years, however, and now Appleton is regarded as the livest sport town in the state. Even Green Bay people than whom there are no greater home town boosters in the country, are free to admit that Ap-'some sport center Wrestling and boxing matches have attracted statewide attention, baseball as solidly on its feet, track has been revived and football ported. All that now remains is a revival of the meing game to make this city the best place in the country for sport lovers to make their homes

Another Yankee athletic invasion of Europe is under way. This time its tennis and Bill Tilden is the invader He is going overseas to compete in Unglish and Prench tournaments in the eye has fully grasped the situa ort of a warming up stunt for the tion Davis cup competition which will be more properly known as the "lead," staged in the U S later in the sea son. When it comes to tennis, Tilden is in a class by himself, and he will probably come back home with a trunk full of medals and honors which he picked up during his spare moments on the court in Johnny Bull's land and Sunny France.

Another Indian player has made good in major league baseball. This time out it is Chief Yellowhorse Any player with a name like that should have little trouble riding along in se lect company. The Injun was taken with Jersey Frankie Burns. There from the Little Rock club of the Southern A. A on trial but he has knocked as cold as a wedge, but after come through with bells on and Bar nev Dreyfuss, the Smoketown mag nate, has purchased him outright. This means that the redskin is a bonafide member of the Pirate gang

If the Badgers can come through with a victory today over Illinois on the diamond. Wisconsin may have something to sav about the Western conference baseball championship The Suckers have been prancing along at a merry clip, sweeping ev ervthing before them, but Meanwell's crew have shown rapid improvement the last ten days and they may kick over the dope bucket,

In the Hardest Market in Years The Haynes Scores Greatest Success

states Alton G. Seiberling, Vice President and General Manager The Haynes Automobile Company, Kokomo, Indiana

This is the greatest year the Haynes has ever known. It is far exceeding last year and the year before, when production alone measured the volume of sales. That was a "sellers' market," and little if any work was necessary to sell a car.

To-day things are different. People are scrutinizing their purchases. They are insisting that every dollar shall buy its full value.

And to-day the sales of Haynes cars are exceeding those of last year by one-third. The volume of sales is 1331/3 per cent. of any previous year. So great is the demand for the Haynes that to-day in our big factories at Kokomo we are employing 16 per cent. more men than ever before, even in the big rush days of last year and the previous one.

There is just one big impressive reason for this. When anybody sees the Haynes and studies it until he knows its worth he wants it. The Haynes 50—the smaller and lighter six-cylinder, five-passenger touring car introduced the first of the year-has swept the country. Never before was a motorist offered such value. When you realize that it is on a par in quality and workmanship with the larger Haynes models you sense the extreme desirability of the car.

Although we had prepared for a large volume of orders, the demand is already so great that deliveries are apt to be delayed. We urge you to select your Haynes now so that you may have it in good time.

He said. "You will find the text for this sermon in between the second and third verses of the twenty-second chapter of Genesis. You will make out your own text and wrestle with the text of your own making. Abraham was commanded to take his only son Isaac and offer him up as a burnt offering. Here was a trial indeed! Abraham loved his son with a peculiar love. That night Abraham went down into Gethsemanee's garden with his Lord. Have you gone through Gethsemanee with your Christ? I have followed my Lord from Gethermanee to Calvary, but I have never thought of his turning back. When Christ bowed his head and cried. Not my will, but thine be done,' that was the triumph-

But Abraham wrestled on until he could say, 'Not my will but thine be done' and from that moment Issac was as good as dead."

The services of tonight and Sunday will bring the campaign to a close and the McCombe-Clase party will leave Appleton Monday morning. It is expected that there will be great attendances throughout the day tomorrow as most of the churches have given up their morning services to be in on the campaign. Prof. Fullinwider is to play special numbers at the men's meeting in the afternoon and Mr. Clase will sing. A thank of-fering will be taken at the services on Sunday to present to Dr. McCombe and Mr. Clase as an acknowledgement for their services during the month. The two leaders have come to the community without any financial guarantee and they have no schemes for taxing people for their services. The community has been so highly appreciative of the unusually fine quality of the programs that have heen presented during the month that it is expected that they will present a pleasing acknowledgement.

Beginning Monday morning, May 16th, we place on sale 6,000 pairs of the most popular selling numbers in fine hosiery. Considering the shortage now existing in certain silk hosiery (see the newspaper clipping reprinted here) and the unprecedented demand. this sale and the attendant savings are something of an achievement.

Beginning Monday morning, this entire lot of fine hosiery will be placed on sale in greatly expanded sales space on the main floor. Large quantities of hosiery are here to insure against disappointment.

If you cannot come on Monday, come later in the week. Of course, the first comers get the widest selection but none need fear that the bargains will be missed if they are not the very first to attend. Sale continues six days.

From Dry Goods Economist

Shortage of Silk Hose Develops

It is just five weeks since the Economist warned hosiery buyers that the shortage of full fashioned silk goods would very shortly give, rise to need of a substitute, and that seamless silks of satisfactory quality would not be available in the quantities desired unless purchases were made at once. Exactly that situation has come about. While cotton hose are plentiful, scamless silks are bought up quite closely, so that finding desired kinds for immediate delivery is a matter of cousiderable looking about.

95c a pair, women's pure thread silk stockings with fashioned leg (mock seam). These stockings have liste top and come in black. Cordovan, white and different shades of the popular greys. Even at the lower prices recently prevailing, these would be a special value at $1.50.
